SOCIETY WOMAN SURPRISES ROBBERS AT WORK IN HOME

AWAKES FROM SLEEP; TWO BURGLARS IN ROOM

Mrs. Cora Beal, Wife of E. M. Beal, Frightens Bold Thugs Away

CATCHES THEM IN ACT OF ROBBING RESIDENCE

Masked Visitors Are Driven Away by Screams of Woman

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Startled from sleep by the sound of two burglars in the act of jimmying bureau drawers in a front bedroom of her home, 3248 Washington street, Mrs. Cora Beal, a prominent society matron, the wife of E. M. Beal of the Stanislaus Electric Company, and daughter-in-law of C. N. Beal, general manager of the Bay Cities Water Company, had an exciting experience with the intruders, who made good their escape about 2 o'clock this morning.

The noise made by the robbers caused Mrs. Beal to rise from her bed and look through the keyhole. The room which she occupies is situated in the rear of the long hallway, and at the front end, in the little alcove bedroom, she observed that the gas was lighted and a man whom she took to be her brother-in-law, was working over the dressing table.

Opening the door of her apartment she advanced down the hallway, intending to speak to him, when suddenly the man turned and she observed that he wore a black mask, concealing his features and that there was a companion with him in the room.

WOMAN CRIES FOR HELP. Realizing that she came face to face with burglars at work, the woman screamed for help, and so startled the intruders that they dashed past her, showing her to one side, ran headlong down the stairs, smashing a bronze statue which stood on the newel post at its foot. Before the male occupants of the house could be aroused, the culprits had jumped through the parlor window, and were gone.

Later, when the residence was carefully inspected by Policeman Timothy Coshin, who was called in, it was found that the burglars had gained entrance in the same manner as they exit, and that they had not succeeded in securing any loot up to the time of their hasty departure.

WHAT WOMAN SAYS. "I was surprised when I discovered that the men were burglars," declared Mrs. Beal this morning. "I could only see one at first and I thought he was my brother-in-law. He was a man about 22 years old, five feet seven inches in height, and would weigh, I should think, about 175 pounds.

"No, I didn't give chase; I was too startled for that. It wasn't a nice experience to go through I assure you."

Mrs. Beal was far less hysterical and disturbed, however, than might be expected under the circumstances, and was able to describe clearly for the police every incident connected with the crime.

Coffey Sues Judge For $500 Damage. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Michael Coffey, the former Supervisor convicted of having taken a bribe, who was released from the county jail pending an appeal of his case to the district court of appeals, today sued Judge Dunne, who presided over his trial in the Superior court, for $500 damages.

Coffey alleges that Judge Dunne refused to certify a transcript of the charge he had made to the jury in the bribery case and thereby delayed Coffey's appeal. He also asks for a writ of mandate to compel the court classification of the transcript.

SPRECKELS ESTATE TAX UNDER GUARD GOES TO TREASURER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—An express wagon containing an armed guard from the First National Bank and several employees from the office of Rudolph Spreckels as reserve force, conveyed $7,661.55 to the office of the City Treasurer this morning. The delegation was in charge of Attorney W. H. Gorrill of the firm of Cushing & Cushing, who turned over the coin to the Treasurer.

The money is the inheritance tax due from Mrs. Anna Spreckels, widow of the late Claus Spreckels, from the $3,370,884.96 given to her by partial distribution by order of Superior Judge Coffey. The law requires that the tax be paid in coin, and the money was carefully counted by Treasurer McDougald and his assistants.

MRS. VANDERCOOK SECURES DIVORCE

Charges the Former Capitalist Deserted Her and Refuses to Come Back

Vivian P. Vandercook was granted a final decree of divorce in the Superior court this afternoon from Edward E. Vandercook, formerly a prominent real estate broker and capitalist of Oakland. The ground upon which Mrs. Vandercook secured her decree was desertion.

When she first went to her attorney with reference to the divorce, it was complicated by letter with Vandercook, telling him that he wanted to know if a reconciliation was possible. Vandercook replied that he had been asked to act as her attorney were correct and that it was never his intention to resume marital relations with her.

The final decree does not finally settle the property rights at issue, nor does it dispose of the question of the permanent custody of the minor son. The court reserves the right to dispose of these matters later on and gives the child into the temporary custody of Mrs. C. P. Nelson.

CHARGES DESERTION ONLY. There is nothing of a sensational character in the testimony. It simply states that the couple were married in San Francisco on June 10, 1902, and that the separation occurred in June, 1907.

Mrs. Vandercook formerly had an office at 204 Broadway. He built the Laundry Farm Electric Railway, which is now the Leaning Heights line of the Oakland Traction Company. He was a director in the Union National Bank at the time that J. D. Brown took charge of its affairs, and it was through the failure of this institution that he met with severe financial reverses, which practically put him out of business in this city. He is now defendant in a number of suits brought against George Roth and the other officers of the defunct bank for fraud in connection with the attempt to reorganize the institution.

Vandercook was also the promoter of the Clear Lake Electric power project, and had an interest in many other public utility schemes.

MUST REMAIN SOBER, SAVE $10 A MONTH AND TABOO SALOONS. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—On the provision that he should not take a drink nor enter a saloon in the next six months, and that he should save $10 a month during that period, and report to the court every thirty days with a savings bank book showing that amount deposited to his credit, Justice Williams today suspended a 180-day prison sentence imposed upon W. L. Veach.

Veach was charged with vagrancy and begging. He said whisky had ruined him and wrecked the life of his wife and children.

It had made him serve ten months in the Salem Penitentiary, he said, where he was sent for stealing a fish net, which he took as a joke but could not prove it was that way.

Taft Travels By Stage To See Big Trees

Is Spending All of Today in Long Trip to Mariposa Woodland Giants

RENIGS ON ESCORT OF CAVALRY TROOP

Long Day of Tedious Stage Ride is Broken by Stop For Lunch

EL PORTO, Cal., Oct. 7.—In the wilderness of the western slope of the Sierra Nevada, away from the crowds and the necessity for speechmaking, President Taft is traveling by stage coach today toward the wonderful Mariposa Grove of big trees. The way to the grove where the Sequoia giants rise to a height of more than 300 feet, leads through forests of trees that are small in comparison with their imposing neighbors, but which, if set in a more populous region, would be considered as wonders in their own right.

Altogether the President has eight hours of stage riding ahead of him before he reaches Mariposa, where he will spend the night at the lonely tavern on the outskirts of the Yosemite Valley, before starting Friday morning to penetrate the Mariposa grove.

IN STAGE ALL DAY. The President and his party, consisting of a score of persons all told, left the little terminal station of the Yosemite Valley railroad at 7 a. m. The coaches will travel steadily until 11:30 o'clock, when a stop will be made at the little settlement of Chinquapin. Lunch will be served in the forest at Chinquapin, and after the party has rested for the time being, the journey toward Mariposa will be resumed, the scheduled time of arrival there being between 4 and 5 o'clock. After supper has been served Mr. Taft will retire early. The respite from the great crowds which have marked his progress through the West, the peace of the forest, the beautiful mountain atmosphere and a scenic environment which is declared to be one of the most beautiful in all the world, the enjoyment of a simple diet of mountain trout and chicken and bacon and eggs are expected to fill the President for the remainder of his trip.

He has three days of sightseeing and restful traveling before him in and around the Yosemite, and there is not a speech of any sort in sight until Fresno is reached next Sunday afternoon. Despite the many suggestions that have been offered, the President has declined Washington and telegraphed ahead by members of the presidential party, the hospitable cities of the West continue to vie with one another in the matter of preparing most elaborate bills of fares for the presidential banquets.

Mr. Taft has almost given up the idea of obtaining simple food at any public place, but he takes the situation philosophically and realizes that it is the result of the friendly rivalry between the cities to do their utmost to show their appreciation of his presence and to outshine in the character of their entertainment and their banquets the best efforts of their neighbors.

TO SEE BIG TREES. President Taft, after spending the night at Mariposa and visiting the big trees tomorrow forenoon, will proceed into the valley, going in from the Mariposa side. He probably will spend Friday night at Glacier Point or at the Hotel Hotel. He will return to El Portal Saturday to spend the night and early Sunday will reappear in the city of Mariposa, arriving there Monday morning.

The big Sequoia trees, which the President will visit tomorrow, are known to all the world from the photographs that have been taken of them and through the eyes of tourists. All of the more imposing trees are known by name. The most famous probably is the Grizzly Giant, which measures more than 100 feet in circumference at its base. The Fallen Monarch, which lies prone in the forest and upon which a stage coach and team of six horses could be driven, is another. But probably the most interesting is Wawona, a living monster of the woodland world, said to be 300 to 500 years old. Through which a narrow ten feet high has been cut in order that the stage coach may pass beneath it.

During his stay in the Mariposa grove the President will not be entirely cut off from the outside world. A telephone wire equipped with telegraph instruments penetrates into the farthest corners. An escort of a troop of United States cavalry has been planned for the President, but he respectfully requested that this arrangement be cancelled.

FICKERT IS GRANTED A RECOUNT OF VOTES

Judge Muraskey Overrules the Demurrer Raised by Francis J. Heney

MUST OPEN BALLOT BOXES OF PRIMARY

First Blood in Battle to Gain Rights He Claims Heney Had Usurped

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Charles M. Fickert gained a substantial victory over Francis J. Heney when Judge Muraskey decided shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon that he is entitled to a recount of the Democratic votes, by overruling the demurrer interposed by Attorney Matt Sullivan, representing the prosecutor.

The court held that while the complaint filed by Attorney Lillick, representing Fickert, was somewhat involved and confusing, he believed that there were enough allegations contained in it to support a contest, and stated that the confusion may have resulted from the fact that there was some doubt as to the section under which the action should have been brought.

He said he felt he had jurisdiction over the person of Francis J. Heney, taking the opposite view of that assumed by Attorney Sullivan.

He declared that the election commission was not necessarily a party to the action, but supposed that they might remain as being interested.

HEARING ON MONDAY. He inquired of counsel as to what time they needed in which to file a formal answer and Attorney Elchoff, who has been appearing with Sullivan, insisted on Monday as being fixed, over the objection of Attorney Lillick. Finally the latter consented and the matter was continued until Monday, it being understood that the actual trial of the action will begin on Tuesday. This will give the registrar of voters an opportunity to get ready and to be present in court with his papers.

Attorney Sullivan intimated that a cross complaint might be filed on behalf of Heney.

FILES AMENDED PETITION. Attorney Lillick filed an amended petition for a recount this morning, in which he was joined by Attorney Thos. V. Cator, representing the election board, who requested the recount of eight Pacific precincts, which is one more than those asked for by Fickert.

Attorney Matt Sullivan, representing Heney, interposed another demurrer, and the morning was taken up with the arguments of counsel along the same lines as those heretofore made.

When court adjourned at noon Judge Muraskey announced that he would decide the matter later.

Secret Service Chiefs Confer

EL PASO, Oct. 7.—Police precautions for the safe-guarding of Presidents Taft and Diaz on the occasion of their meeting in this city, October 16, were discussed today between John Wilkie, chief of the United States Secret Service, and Colonel Ismael Zuniga, chief of the Mexican secret service.

The carriage of President Diaz arrived here last night and the silver plate from the Castle of Chapultepec, which will be used at the Taft-Diaz banquet, will be here tonight.

Judge Lawlor to Leave for New York

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Superior Judge Lawlor leaves San Francisco tonight for a trip to New York, which will consume almost a month, allowing for his return to this city soon after election time to assume the duty of presiding at the trial of Patrick Calhoun.

During his absence Judge Deolting of San Mateo county will assume the duties of department 11 of the Superior Court.

DECEIVED HUSBANDS BRING CHARGES THAT CAUSE WIFE'S ARREST FOR BIGAMY

MRS. MAE HAYNER, Arrested on Charge of Bigamy on Complaint of Two of Her Husbands.

STEAL VICTIM'S GIRL STRANGLED WAGON; LOOT DELIVERED TO DEATH, SAY DOCTORS

Thieves Steal Coal; Use Team and Vehicle; Sell Load in Chinatown

Alexander Tubman, aged 19, Abe Hobson and Richard Singer, aged 18 years, respectively, are under arrest at the city prison charged with one of the most audacious thefts ever to come to the attention of the local police.

The young men, who are residents of Watt's Tract in North Oakland, are alleged by the police to have broken into the feed and coal store of Harry G. Williams at Twenty-sixth and Magnolia streets on numerous occasions, loaded Williams' own wagon with the coal, hitched Williams' horses to the wagon and then delivered the stolen coal to customers in Chinatown and other places at about one half the regular price. The horse and wagon would be returned to the barn and the coal merchant was simply out his coal.

CAUGHT WITH TEAM. Last night at midnight, when the trio were delivering a half ton of coal to Lawrence Fitzpatrick at Fortieth and San Pablo avenue, Policeman Tom Dade passed by and became suspicious at seeing a coal wagon loaded with sacks at that hour. The officer investigated. Young Singer ran on seeing the patrolman. The other two were placed under arrest. The address of Singer was later obtained from Tubman and Sergeant of Police Byrne and Policeman Carter created him.

Harry Williams, the merchant who suffered the losses, declared to Captain of Detectives Petersen this morning that his place had been systematically robbed for several months. Chinese in Chinatown are alleged to have been the best customers for the stolen coal, although other parties in North Oakland are said to have secured their supply of coal at ridiculously low prices.

WOODLAND, Cal., Oct. 7.—Popular feeling against Wilbur Benjamin, the young Indian who has confessed to having murdered Violet Gilmore, a 15-year-old girl on a mountain trail near Rumsey, Yolo county, is very strong, but danger of mob violence, which at first was feared, has passed.

A post-mortem examination of the body of the victim was made today by Drs. Debee and Eblevins of Woodland. They determined that death finally was caused by strangulation.

GIRL MADE FIGHT. The body is frightfully mutilated, and everything indicates that the girl made a brave fight against her assailant.

The Indian, Benjamin, is a thick set man with heavy jaw and features, and shifty eyes. He speaks good English, but is guarded in his statements. He says that he met the girl on the trail, and that she was sitting down when he approached her. He says that she fought savagely when he addressed her and made the assault.

The life of Violet Gilmore, so terribly ended, was a hard one for a child. Her parents were poor mountain ranchers. The mother is a cripple and the child had been the housekeeper for the family. She aspired to an education, and went to the school at Rumsey, two miles from her home each day, after attending to the household affairs.

LONELY TRAIL. Her ambition for advancement indirectly contributed to her death, for it became necessary that she travel over the lonely trail at a late hour every day on her way home.

District Attorney Anthony, Constable Burke and Usher Sheriff Brown, again visited the scene of the tragedy today for the purpose of gathering, if possible, additional evidence in regard to the crime.

PLOT TO TRAP WOMAN WHO ENSNARED THEM

San Rafael and Colorado Men Wed Pretty Chatter Under Arrest

MRS. HAYNER IS CAUGHT BY STORIES OF RICHES

Comes From Portland to Find Charge of Bigamy Awaiting Her

LOVE of finery and an irresistible desire to toy with men's hearts has resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Mae Hayner, alias Mrs. E. A. Thiel, alias Mrs. A. Ferguson, a striking brunette, 37 years of age, on a charge of bigamy, preferred by two of the men who claim she has wrecked their lives.

The woman was taken into custody in this city this morning after several weeks of plotting on the part of her outraged spouses, and is now in the city jail. Late this afternoon she will be transferred to San Rafael, where she will be tried.

Mrs. Hayner was married on June 1 of this year to E. A. Thiel, a druggist of this place. The ceremony was performed in San Rafael by Justice of the Peace McGee.

Posing as Mrs. Mae Robinson, she claimed to have been divorced from her first husband four years ago. Following the wedding she and Thiel came here to live and for a time all was peace. Then one day the newly acquired husband heard his bride discussing her past with her daughter, Mrs. Morris Sider of Portland. His suspicions aroused, Thiel commenced an investigation, but for a time he was unable to find any clue to his wife's former marriages.

GOES TO DENVER. Three weeks after their marriage, according to a statement made by Thiel to the local police today, his wife showed him a letter, presumably from her mother in Portland, asking her to come to her immediately; that she was ill and thought she had not long to live.

Mrs. Thiel begged to be allowed to go and the husband, drawing $1400 out of the bank, purchased her a ticket. Instead of going directly to Portland, however, Mrs. Thiel stopped off in Denver. There she met William R. Hayner, a former husband.

HUSBANDS MEET. A reconciliation followed and for a few days the two lived together. Then Mrs. Thiel confessed to her bigamous marriage in this State. Maddened by jealousy and the fear that his wife would return to Thiel after tiring of him, Hayner communicated with Thiel in this city.

Revelations came thick and fast and the hands of the law were arrived at between the two men by means of postal communication. Hayner, taking the woman to Portland to see her daughter, left her there and came to San Francisco, where he and Thiel met by agreement a month ago.

BRINGS WOMAN BACK. Both men produced proofs of their marriage to the woman. Thiel volunteered to bring the woman back to this city to answer for her crime, and with this object in view went to Portland three weeks ago, where he suddenly acquired riches, and she, stipulating that she be allowed to bring her 17-year-old daughter, Mrs. Sider with her, agreed to return.

Not wishing to arouse his wife's suspicions Thiel agreed to this and the three arrived here together, week ago, going directly to the Alta Vista House in this city. Thiel applied for a warrant in San Rafael two days ago and the woman was taken into custody this morning.

She has made no attempt to deny the charges.

WIRE COILED ABOUT ARTERY OF HIS HEART

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Robert Campbell, formerly employed as an electrician by the Salt Lake Railroad, who was killed ten days ago by a physician, today watched and assisted four surgeons at the county hospital as they cautiously coiled thirty-two feet of aluminum bronze wire into the walls of his heart artery.

It was a daring, delicate operation, performed without the aid of an anesthetic, in an effort to save Campbell's life, strengthening the walls of his heart—the largest artery in the body. When the last inch of the wire had been placed within the artery walls, Campbell, who had felt every movement made by the surgeons, stated that the operation was almost painless.

It is believed by the operating surgeons that Campbell will recover and live many years, regardless of the fact that the wire will remain coiled within an inch of his heart. The size of the wire when coiled like a spring is nearly as large as a small football.

Many growers of Thompson seedless and other varieties of grapes are now expected to lose fully one-half of their crops, because of the recent heavy rains, now and then, however, a shower will be enough to ruin three-fourths of the amount expected to be charged to profit and loss.

Fruit-growers are also saving most of the fruit that was drying on the vines. Many of the grapes are not so badly hurt at first reported, although they will save but a small portion of the crop. The harvest of which had just commenced.

NOMINATE HEARST FOR MAYORALTY

Thousands of Friends of Former Candidate Again Put Up Banner

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—William Randolph Hearst, once defeated for mayor of this city by George B. McClellan, and later defeated by Charles E. Hughes for governor of the State, was nominated for mayor last night at a mass meeting of 4000 of his admirers at Cooper Union.

This action was taken despite his statement the previous evening that he would not be a candidate. Resolutions were adopted directing that a committee of five be appointed to take steps for the naming of an entire city, county and borough ticket, which will be placed in nomination by petition.

GREAT DEMONSTRATION.

Last night's meeting was called, according to its leaders, with a view to showing Hearst that opinion among his followers in the old Independence League was so strongly in favor of his running again as to override even his positive declaration. The demonstration, which followed his nomination, lasted twenty minutes before the chairman's calls for order could be heard.

The platform as indicated by the speakers will express distrust of the intentions of both the Republican and Democratic parties, which have a complete control of the city government, and a demand for full local tickets, declaring that a silent alliance exists between Tammany and the local Republican machine, which would make good government under either an impossibility. It will declare strong terms for municipal ownership of subways, economic administration and adequate, school and transit facilities.

DERANGED FROM USE OF DRUG SEDATIVES

Deranged from the use of sedatives, taken to relieve headaches, Mrs. A. J. Farling wandered from her home at 1011 Forty-third street early yesterday morning and after an anxious search by her husband and neighbors was traced to the Emergency Hospital. She had been taken to that institution several hours previously by Police Officer Placencia, who had found the woman straying aimlessly about in the vicinity of Seventeenth and Broadway. She was unable to give a lucid account of herself and, divining that she was suffering from mental troubles, he summoned the ambulance.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH DOWN A PRECIPICE

REDDING, Oct. 7.—Particulars have just been received here of the singular fall of C. H. Ames on Saturday night at Hawking Bar, sixty miles down the Trinity river from Weaverville. Ames and Charles F. Bush were hunting on the mountain side and darkness overtook them. Descending a steep declivity they concluded they had made a mistake and would turn back. At that moment Ames, who was holding to a bush, lost his grip and fell over a precipice 200 feet high. Bush, not daring to move, built a fire where he stood and stayed there until daylight. Then he walked ten miles to the first settlement to get help to recover the body of Ames. The precipice down which he fell is almost vertical.

LEPER SET FREE BEARING TAIN

Norway Congress Cites Case of an American Blunder

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Reports just received from this country from Bergen, Norway, declare that the second international congress, recently held there, decided that John Early, who, after being pronounced a leper by the Washington authorities, was recently discharged from the Skin and Cancer Hospital here on the ground that he was not afflicted with leprosy, actually is a leper.

Early was brought to New York from Washington and since then has been free to go where he pleased. He has come in contact with many persons. A section of the report from Norway declares that Early's wife had submitted a section of his skin to Armauer Hanson, the European expert on leprosy, and that his diagnosis showed that Early is certainly a leper. This decision sustained the Washington authorities and also the laboratory diagnosis of Professor Ehlers of Copenhagen, who has been consulted by the Washington physicians and who had been disputed in New York.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7.—Graydon Peabody, said to be the son of F. H. Peabody, a lawyer of Worcester, Mass., died at the city hospital here today as the result of a revolver wound inflicted early this morning. The police hold to the theory that he committed suicide.

Little is known here of Peabody. He is said to have been an electrician. The shooting occurred in the office of the night watchman in a building in course of construction in Walnut street. On the way to the hospital Peabody told an officer that the watchman had accidentally shot him.

The watchman said that Peabody had borrowed his revolver and that when he turned around Peabody shot himself.

MUSICAL MATES NOT IN HARMONY

Mrs. Lawrence Gets Divorce;
Says Husband Had Affinity

Although both Daniel M. and Helene C. Lawrence are endowed with rare musical talents, there was no harmony in their marital relations, according to the divorce proceedings which have just resulted in the wife securing an interlocutory decree in the Superior Court.

For several years the Lawrences have been prominent vocalists and choir singers in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco, and as teachers of vocal music on both sides of the bay. Deserter was the ground upon which Mrs. Lawrence based her divorce action, and she told the court that one day while she was in San Francisco on professional business and without giving her any intimation of his intentions, Lawrence left her.

SPOUSE HAS AFFINITY.
Aside from this, Mrs. Lawrence testified, instead of providing for her as he should have done, Lawrence spent his money elsewhere. There was an affinity, in the case, too, according to the wife, and all the time that Lawrence was lifting his voice in sacred anthems as director of the choir of a leading Berkeley church, his heart was in the possession of another woman than his wife. This, Mrs. Lawrence told the court, her husband confessed to her.

Lawrence was a member of the Knickerbocker Quartet of San Francisco, which has been in much demand at entertainments given by clubs and lodges of the transbay cities. According to Henry M. Owens, one of the witnesses for Mrs. Lawrence, the husband always preferred life with the "fast set" of San Francisco, and said that "among the boys of the city who knew him he had the reputation of being a good-for-nothing cuss."

There is nothing in the testimony presented in behalf of Mrs. Lawrence to indicate what became of Lawrence after he left his accomplished wife.

"SULTAN OF ZULU" AT BROADWAY TONIGHT

Good fun and music continue at the Broadway Theater. The all too short run of "The Yankee Consul" closed last night, giving place to the "Sultan of Zulu," which will be on tonight, Friday and Saturday nights, with a Saturday matinee. The "Sultan of Zulu" is one of Ferris Hartman's best offerings. There is a dash to the music that keeps the auditors hot breathing time, the "beauty chorus" has an opportunity for lavish display and Hartman is one big laugh. Walter De Leon, Walter Catlett and Joe Fogarty help out in the fun, all being cast in partitively conceived parts. Miss Ishib, Miss Davies and Miss Hart have effective roles. Following this offering will be given the "Mayor of Tokyo" and "The Blue Moon." The former production will begin with a Sunday matinee, closing Tuesday night. The latter, "The Blue Moon," will be produced Wednesday matinee and Wednesday and Thursday nights. This will close the Hartman season at the Broadway.

PANAMA HEARING STARTS MONDAY

Owners of Indianapolis News
Alleged Graft in Purchase of Canal

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 7.—The preliminary hearing of Delavan Smith and Chas. R. Williams, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, charged with having committed criminal libel in publishing articles intimating that there was corruption in the purchase by the United States of the Panama Canal zone, is set for next Monday in the United States Court of this district.

Subpoenas have not been issued yet. It was declared at the federal attorney's office today, for certain men prominent in public life, who, it has been understood, were to have been called to testify for the government.

MANY TO TESTIFY.
Frank H. Hittcock, postmaster-general and former chairman of the Republican National Committee, Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, chairman of the Democratic National Committee and representatives of the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. will be asked to testify, according to the statement made in the court last June by Stuart McNamara, attorney of the Department of Justice, who was assigned to the proceedings against the proprietors of the Indianapolis News and the New York World, also charged with criminal libel in the Panama Canal controversy.

NEWSPAPERS WARNED.
Attorney McNamara told the court at that time, in asking for a postponement, that he expected to show by Messrs. Hittcock and Mack that newspaper correspondents had been warned that it would be improper and dangerous to publish current rumors that there had been any "graft" in the transfer.

By representatives of J. P. Morgan & Co. McNamara said he could show that corruption was impossible in the transfer, which was made through Morgan & Co. and William Nelson Cromwell as attorney for the French company.

DEPOSITORS ON DATE OF FAILURE, GET MONEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—There is joy in the hearts of a number of the depositors of the defunct California Safe Deposit and Trust Company as the result of a decision handed down by Judge Seawell this morning. The court directs Receiver Edward Le Breton to pay the claims of all those who deposited money on June 30, the day of the bank's failure, in full.

This order, however, applies only to the four branches of the institution and not to the main office at California and Montgomery streets. It also concerns only the actual money put into the bank on the day in question, which is to be returned to the depositors in full.

guilt, and prior to her bigamous marriage to Thiele she confessed that she had loved with the hearts of one or two other men but that they always came from her of fenses. When Thiele came along she was "the loveliest girl in the city," and she had plenty of money with which to satisfy her craving for diamonds, big hats and fine dresses, and as he was possessed of a pleasing personality, she decided to marry him, despite the fact that she had a husband and three children, two daughters and a son. She had been living apart from her husband for a year and saw no particular harm in returning the burning admiration of Thiele, especially as he was endowed with a considerable amount of this world's goods.

UNDER WOMAN'S SPELL.
Thiele married her in good faith and during the honeymoon lay shed on her all of those attentions that a devoted lover and a good husband could command. Money, jewels and fine wearing apparel were here for the asking. She was so flattered with the things that usually elude the heart of a woman and grew weary of the devotion of the man she had so cruelly deceived. Her actions caused Thiele many bitter moments. Her apparent indifference he sought to overcome with added affection and attention.

In telling his story Thiele makes a straightforward statement. He says he

Doan's Kidney Pills make well kidneys. Mrs. H. Shaff, 2104 Clement avenue, Alameda, Cal., says: "I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly, as their use in our family has been followed with the best of results. My daughter had a severe illness about a year ago and after that she complained a great deal of backache and other annoyances, which plainly showed that she was suffering from kidney complaint. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to have her give them a trial and procured a box. Their value was quickly proven, as the kidneys were restored to their normal condition. My daughter gained in flesh and her health has been much better ever since. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills and they acted like magic. I do not believe there is a remedy that can compare with them."

BELL BOYS WILL BE STOPPED CARRYING DRINKS TO GUESTS

SAGINAW, Mich., Oct. 7.—Hotel boys in Michigan will have to stop carrying beverages from the bar to guests in their rooms, according to Deputy State Factory Inspector Frank Wood, who has announced that his department believes the practice has a bad effect on the morals of boys.

"There is a State statute which makes it an offense to hire boys to do anything which demoralizes their character," said Deputy Wood, "and under it we are going to proceed. We are prepared to notify hotel proprietors in the State that boys under 21 years of age must not be allowed to serve drinks."

TALES OF RICHES.
"When I found out from her former husband—like the magnitude of her dip lity. I thought it time to bring her to justice and left for Portland. I deceived her just as she deceived me and brought her to Oakland. She believed that I was a good thing as I was on the Son of Sam. I made all sorts of extravagant promises. She did not want to come out of the promise of money and jewels and her children."

"Her last husband and myself acted in perfect accord. We agreed to the prosecution which has been carried out. She is now in jail and will have to answer the charge of bigamy. Her husband has already begun the charge in San Francisco and she will be taken there for trial."

ADMITS MARRIAGE.
The woman from behind the bars of her cell this morning admitted that she had married Thiele.

"I had to do it," she asserted. "I just seemed to be forced into it."

Further than this she refuses to discuss the matter, though she admitted quietly that she presumed she deserved to be delivered up to justice.

According to bits of the woman's past history which the San Rafael police have been able to unearth, she was first married to William Hayner under her maiden name, Mae Ferguson, in Jefferson county, Iowa, twenty years ago. Three children were born to the union, three boys and a girl. They lived in Denver many years, but about a year ago, after a bitter quarrel, the wife left the husband and boys, and taking the daughter came to San Francisco. It was while here that she met Thiele.

INSANE; MAKES ATTACK ON JUDGE

Woman Fights Deputies on Way to Court—Tries to Kick Jurist

After making a shocking spectacle of herself while being taken from the Receiving Hospital to the Court House by two deputy sheriffs, who had to fight with her and drag her all the way, Mary Mulvihill, of Hayward, a raving maniac, made an attack upon Judge Ogden, in the probate department of the Superior Court this morning, before whom she appeared on a charge of insanity.

The moment the woman set eyes upon the judge she started to berate him and call him vile names. It is charged in the information against her that she dragged every man she meets to be her brother and then attacks him as an enemy.

KICKS AT JUDGE.
"Hello, Johnnie," she exclaimed, when she laid eyes on Judge Ogden. "Where did you get those glasses?" The judge was about to make some conciliatory reply when Mrs. Mulvihill raised her foot and kicked the affidavit in her case, which he was holding, in his hand. She followed this up by breaking away from the deputies who were holding her and making a savage dash at his judge, which might have resulted in serious injury to him had not the officers overpowered and restrained her opportunely.

Much unfavorable comment has been heard of late regarding the practice of committing insane persons from the Receiving Hospital to court, and the revolting scene that Mrs. Mulvihill created this forenoon, while being transferred, did not tend to allay indignation that is being expressed in view of this incident. It is understood that hereafter all cases of persons violently insane will be tried at the hospital. This will remedy the evil and shield the unfortunates from the morbid curiosity of the public.

MONSTER VOLCANO TO BELCH FORTH CONFETTI

Floats in Huge Parade Will Be Greatest Feature of Their Kind

Saturday, the last day of the Portola festival, will be Carnival Day and the frolic and jest of the merry-makers will commence early in the morning and last long into the hours of the night. Judging from the interest that is being manifested by clubs, societies and parties in making preparation to participate in the revelry it will be one of the most memorable days of the festival.

San Francisco is noted for its carnival loving spirit and the hospitality of its citizens and their generous good humor is sure to add zest to the spirit of revelry and make the event a memorable and lasting one.

ATTEND IN COSTUME.

With thousands of comic characters attired in exaggerated and grotesque costumes bringing up the rear of the monster historical section of the glittering pageant which will mark the last day of festivities of the Portola festival, the citizens to attend the festa on Saturday, Carnival Day, in costume, that they may participate in the big pageant.

Those desiring to participate in this part of the revelry will be assigned to positions in the pageant upon application at 201 Van Ness street, in the afternoon of the parade committee to encourage the clubs to take part in the parade in a body, each club being assigned a certain section in the parade so that its members may remain in one body should they desire.

The merry-making and jollity will prevail throughout the day and all night. Already parties are making reservations for seats at the larger hostilities and the big cafes for carnival night with the intention of entering into the festa revelry and participating in the round of pleasures.

CONFETTI VOLCANO.

The carnival section of the parade will be preceded by a monster float representing a large confetti volcano which will belch forth a continuous stream of various colored confetti which will go sailing through the air and descend upon the revelers who participate in the parade and line the streets. Here the carnival section of the pageant will commence. There will be a squad of soldiers in exaggerated costumes in burlesque of Don Gaspar's Spanish Dragons, and instead of the prancing and flow steeds of the Dons they will be mounted upon miniature hobby horses.

Other features which are being contemplated by the committee are a number of clown and rube bands. These will punctuate the long line of horrors at regular intervals and add much to the noise and merriment of the carnival section of the parade. The number of bands have not been arranged for and

MISTAKES LOVER FOR BURGLAR

Levels Pistol at Lovelorn Youth--Police Come--Apologies

While calling on his sweetheart last night, Oscar Carlson of 1608 Post street, San Francisco, was mistaken for a burglar at the residence of Mrs. Fred W. Shear Jr., 831 Chicago avenue, where he was in the habit of paying his attentions to the maid, P. C. Fry, residing at 323 Chicago avenue, one door from the Shear residence, was the person who mistook the young man for a marauder. He succeeded in driving all thoughts of love from the young San Franciscan's mind by leveling a revolver at Carlson and commanding "hands up."

To add to the comedy of errors, M. Dumas, who resides on Broadway avenue, a few doors from the Shear residence, heard the command of hands up and immediately telephoned the police. Detectives Harry Green and Sergeant of Police Byrne were rushed to the scene in the police automobile. When they arrived the young man known as Oscar Carlson, on this side of the bay and he was released with apologies from the excited householder, who had interrupted the tryst.

rious scenes and historical objects in California. They will be illuminated by myriads of electric lights which will lend grandeur to the scene of night revelry.

The floats, which will be the largest ever constructed, will be of even greater length and size than the largest built for the Hudson-Fulton celebration. They will be located at the Ferry building, and on Market street at First, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth streets. Some of them will be illuminated by as many as 1000 incandescent lights.

GIGANTIC MISSION BELL. Probably the most pretentious of all of the decoration scenes evolved so far is the gigantic mission bell which will be erected at Third and Market streets. The bell, upon which the work of construction has already been commenced, will be suspended from a height one hundred and twenty-five feet above the street. It will be ten feet high and one hundred and fifty feet in diameter at its base, and in the illumination some 500,000 candle power of electric lights will be employed. These lights will consist of 2000 bulbs, supplemented by a cluster of fifteen flaring arc lights, each of 10,000 candle power. This with the elaborate float which will be installed at Third and Market streets is believed to attract an enormous throng of merry-makers to this section of the city.

SOME OF THE FLOATS.

Of the floats the first will be a miniature representation of Yosemite Valley, the largest ever constructed, weighing over sixty tons. On one end will be located a miniature Yosemite falls, and on the other Vernal and Nevada falls, over which will flow at the rate of 15000 gallons per minute con-verging in the center and forming the Merced river. This float will be a large undertaking and it will require a twenty-horsepower motor to do the pumping. The row boats will ride the waters of Merced river, each containing five musicians who will supply music for the dancers.

The second will be a Mission float, typical of California's early history. On one end will be erected an exact reproduction of Santa Barbara Mission, the effect of which will be heightened by the presence of a Spanish grape arbor. In the center of which an electrical fountain will play, pumping five hundred gallons of water per minute. At the other end will be constructed a modern residence on top of which there will be places for twelve musicians. Under the grape arbor will be seated sixteen Mexicans and the float will be illuminated with one thousand colored lights.

SHASTA SPRINGS. The Shasta float, in which the famous Shasta Springs will be represented, will be a large float. On one end will be Shasta Springs while on the other will be Moss Brae Springs. The water will descend over these falls at the rate of fifteen hundred gallons per minute. Indian musicians will be seated upon stumps of logs erected in the center, and the glaucous of the water will be heightened by a maze of nine hundred lights and two search lights.

The much disputed North Pole will be the subject of the fourth float. It will be a replica of large arctic glaciers and ice bergs, and in the center will stand the American flag. Cook and Peary, the discoverers, will be represented on either side of the pole beneath which will be located a large ice cave lined with glistening stalactites. Equilibrium in native costumes with their sleds and dogs will be stationed at either end, and around the float will be distributed about ten tons of large cakes of ice. The scene will be amplified with 1500 frosted electric lights.

ORIENTAL COLORS.

Chinatown, in all of its oriental color and weird glamor, will be the fifth float. At one end will be erected a Chinese pagoda, canopied in terra cotta tiles and embellished with Chinese hieroglyphics. At the other end will be a Chinese tea house elaborately appointed in the oriental style, with a number of celestials as patrons and waiters.

The enormous length will adorn the top of the house, while in the center of the float will be located a market and combination drug store. On either side of the base of the float will be placed a immense Chinese dragon on the sides of which will be painted in Chinese lettering the names "Welcome Portola." A complete Chinese orchestra will accompany this float and furnish oriental music. The float will be further decorated with fifty Chinese lanterns and one thousand electric lights of various colors.

THE BIG TREES.

The sixth float will be in effect an exact reproduction of the fallen monarch of the Mariposa Big Trees. On this there will be a band of twelve players. A team of horses will be on the float in the act of drawing the huge tree trunk, and the tableaux will be illuminated by five hundred lights.

A California country home will be depicted in the seventh of the floats. In this an ideal country dwelling will be portrayed, with garden, vegetables, well and verdant pasture. A stringed orchestra will be on the float, the musicians in the costume of the picture being seated on the veranda of the country dwelling.

Music will be dispensed at each of these floats all day Saturday, and as far into the night as the merry-makers care to indulge themselves. At each place will be stationed a number of men, the hundreds of maskers may join in the dancing and revels.

PLAYWRIGHT BARRIE SUES FOR A DIVORCE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—James M. Barrie, playwright and novelist, has brought a suit for divorce. Mrs. Barrie, who married the writer in 1894, was formerly credited with having aided Barrie in the staging of his many successful plays. No particulars of the action have been revealed. It came to light yesterday by the publication of the title of the suit in the list of actions for the forthcoming session of the divorce court.

DEATH REUNITES WEDDED COUPLE

Husband Left Home to Meet With Accident That Ends His Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—James H. Russell, who was accidentally asphyxiated at an early hour yesterday morning in the lodging house at 625 Minna street, died at 2:30 a. m., after remaining in an unconscious condition all night. Russell left home, 542 Holloway avenue, following a dispute with his wife about a week ago. She warned him not to leave her, but says that he seemed to have a premonition that he would die. He was found by her for a while, and so took his leave, not telling her where he was going.

When the news of his accidental asphyxiation by the slipping of the tube from a gas heater reached Mrs. Russell, she went immediately to her husband's bedside, and remained with him until the end came.

DENY MISS ELKINS WILL WED DUKE

Brother Says She Did Not Meet Abruzzi Abroad as Reported

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Miss Katherine Elkins returned today on the White Star liner Adriatic after a stay of several weeks in Europe, during which it had been asserted and denied that she had met the Duke of the Abruzzi, to whom at one time she was reported to be engaged. It was reported at the same time that royal objections to the match had been withdrawn and that Miss Elkins was the sole dictator.

With Miss Elkins were her mother and her two brothers, Stephen and Davis. The latter was asked, "Is your sister engaged to be married to the Duke?"

"So far as I know she is not," he replied.

"Would you know if an engagement existed?"

"Not necessarily," he replied.

"Young Elkins added that if his sister and Abruzzi had met he did not know of it and said he did not believe they had."

Senator Elkins was on the pier to meet his family. Miss Elkins denied herself to all interviews.

ACTOR IS SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Officer Says Victim Had Big Knife and Was About to Attack Him

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 7.—Milo Crocker, a vaudeville actor, aged 22, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Patrolman Charles B. Nelson at Sixth and University streets late last night. Patrolman Nelson claims that the shooting was done in self-defense, as Crocker was about to make a lunge at him with a large hunting knife.

The wounded man insists that he was about to turn the knife over to the officer so as to avoid trouble. The policeman had been warned to watch Crocker, who had created a disturbance at a public dance hall. Witnesses who saw the shooting say that from Crocker's attitude, it was difficult to tell whether he intended to attack the patrolman or was peacefully inclined, as he insists.

Crocker was shot through the abdomen. He was taken to a hospital, where his condition is said to be dangerous. His home is in Seattle.

Do You Have Stomach Trouble?

And Are You Satisfied With the Treatment You Are Taking?

Sufferers Who Find Their Condition Unrelieved or Actually Growing Worse While Using Other Remedies, Would Do Well to Try the Tonic Treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, some loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as if weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. Sometimes the gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is a frequent and distressing symptom.

There are two old-fashioned methods of treating chronic dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach or chronic gastritis.

First, that which prescribes pepsin, dilute hydrochloric acid and other ferments to help the digestive juices.

Second, that which seeks to stimulate the glands to greater activity.

Both have the defect that too often when the treatment stops the benefit stops and the trouble returns in an aggravated form. The truth of this statement is all too evident to many who have tried either treatment.

Tune Up the Stomach.

The modern method is to tone up the stomach and glands to do their normal work.

Every step toward recovery is a step gained not to be lost again. The recovery of the appetite, the disappearance of pain, the absence of gas—all are steps on the road to health that those who have tried the tonic treatment remember distinctly.

Abating a Theater Nuisance.

It can be said without exaggeration that the patrons of the Orpheum Theater in this city are delighted that the unsightly advertising drop curtain has been banished from that popular playhouse. It is a pleasure now for the eye to dwell upon the beautiful and artistic sylvan scene, appropriate and suggestive of the stage and its diversions, which has replaced the hideous array of poster ads formerly forced on the gaze of Orpheum patrons.

The Orpheum management is to be congratulated on making a change so welcome to theatergoers and affording relief from a vulgar imposition on the public that cheapens the drama and drags art down to the sordid level of the market place. When people pay to witness a theatrical performance it is treating them unfairly to thrust upon their attention glaring advertisements, limned with a sign-painter's brush, of soap, beer and sausages. It is taking an advantage to make a profit that degrades the theater and its functions, lowers its standards of art, and detracts from the enjoyment of its diversions. It is akin to setting up a bootblack stand or a candy stall in the vestibule of a church. The Orpheum people have shown wisdom as well as proper appreciation of the real relations that exist between the theater and its patrons by making a reform so in harmony with good taste and the traditions of the stage, and we trust that the trifling loss sustained by dispensing with an illegitimate advertising privilege will be doubly compensated by an increase of legitimate patronage. It will certainly win and hold the good will of the public.

It is to be hoped that the example set by the Orpheum will be followed by other theaters. Advertising on drop curtains is not only obnoxious to cultivated taste, but it cheapens the actor and his calling and tends to lower the standard of patronage. The effect is bad in front as well as back of the stage by the marrying influence of presenting poster ads to the audience between acts. It is gratifying to note that the Orpheum people have realized this fact and have discarded a petty profit device before the theater-going public rose in revolt against it. We hope to see further abatement of the advertising drop curtain nuisance.

The San Francisco news service of the Los Angeles papers is rather poor. They haven't learned yet that the big Portola celebration is being heated up.

The San Francisco Chronicle compliments the committee having charge of the reception given in Oakland to President Taft for providing a lunch for the enlisted men of the army and navy who made up the military escort of the distinguished guest. It is a compliment well deserved, but providing lunch for the soldiers and sailors was only one of the details admirably executed. However, our San Francisco contemporary is right in saying that the enlisted men who participate in public celebrations are too often overlooked in providing refreshments and other comforts. People forget that they get tired and hungry and through sheer thoughtlessness neglect to provide for their natural wants. Hence the men in the ranks hold parades in public celebrations in holy horror. This feeling would disappear if more humane consideration were shown for their comfort and welfare. But this is not the first time Oakland has displayed decent appreciation for the men who wear the National uniform. When the battleship fleet was here the enlisted men who participated in the great naval parade on this side of the bay were welcomed and entertained as guests of the city. They were given a grand barbecue on the shores of Lake Merritt which they declared to be better than anything in the way of entertainment they had encountered since they left Hampton Roads. So, it is not a new thing for Oakland to manifest a proper regard for the privates in the service of the United States.

The death of Colonel William R. Morrison, who achieved fame as a tariff reformer in the seventies, is a reminder that the tariff speeches of Dolliver, Cummins, La Follette, Bristow et al. read very much like the speeches of Colonel Morrison—"Horizontal Bill," they called him—Roger Q. Mills, James McKenzie, Clarkson N. Potter, "Sunset" Cox and other Democratic leaders of a past generation used to deliver. The tariff war has recalled to public life Benton McMillin of Tennessee, who figured with Mills, Carlisle, William L. Wilson and Holman of Indiana as a maker of the Mills and Wilson bills, and oddly enough he finds himself now in accord with Senator Dolliver of Iowa, who was one of the Republican House leaders when McMillin and his Bourbon conferees were trying to smash the tariff. Dolliver still calls himself a Republican, but he is now preaching the tariff doctrine that brought the Democratic party to irretrievable wreck. And he calls himself a "Progressive" Republican.

The Seward peninsula in Northwestern Alaska is giving up its golden treasures liberally. A Nome dispatch reports that a rich pay streak ten miles long and hundreds of feet wide has been uncovered in the bed of the Upper Kougarok river. The discoveries of new gold-bearing districts throughout the Territory are growing so numerous and the precious metal from the older mining districts is increasing so greatly in volume that Alaska has become by far the most attractive field on the Pacific Coast for the adventurous mining prospector.

Oakland Street Improvement.

If the program of street paving formed by the Superintendent of Streets and recommended to the council by the Board of Public Works is carried out Oakland will be raised to the first rank among the cities of the Pacific Coast which have provided themselves with a large mileage of permanent street pavements. Forty-seven streets have been selected for improvement as soon as the necessary preliminaries required by law shall have been fulfilled. These streets have been chosen for treatment because they are the streets bearing the heavier traffic which the recent growth of the population and the commerce of the city has imposed upon them. They have been classified also, so that the nature of the permanent pavement to be laid on any given street in the list will conform to the character and weight of the traffic which it must bear. Naturally the burden will fall heaviest on the streets leading from the waterfront to the business center and to the east and west streets in close proximity to the improved waterfront along the north shore of the harbor.

All of the streets enumerated in the list have been practically wrecked during the past three and one-half years. Property-owners who will be assessed for these improvements must meet the tax with fortitude, for the fact must not be overlooked that the commercial changes which have worn out the present pavements have enhanced the value of their property immensely and that the laying of permanent pavements on their street frontages will transfer to the city the responsibility of caring for them thereafter. The improvements proposed must be carried out as early as possible or the city's commerce must suffer which implies the arresting of its prosperity and the depreciation of property values. Such a prospect must be banished from the thoughts of every citizen concerned. These are days of progress and civic enterprise and Oakland is "in the swim" to stay.

The Los Angeles agitation for State division has proved to be a first-class fizzle and has practically petered out already. A called meeting of the presidents of the civic and commercial organizations of the counties supposed to be interested in the movement held in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday night was only slenderly attended. Several of the more important civic and commercial organizations in Los Angeles declined to send representatives, showing that the community in which the movement for State division was started is divided on the proposition. There was a notable absence of enthusiasm displayed by the forty-one delegates assembled to arrange a campaign program and definite action was finally postponed until December 1. That means giving the movement time to die a natural death.

Los Angeles is about to point the way again to Oakland in the matter of municipal enterprise and progressiveness, as arrangements are being made to call an election for the authorization of a $3,000,000 harbor improvement bond issue and one of $9,500,000 for the development of water power on the Owens River Aqueduct. It is expected that the election will take place on November 10. The harbor improvement bond issue is the first step taken toward fulfilling the pledge Los Angeles gave to Wilmington and San Pedro to spend $10,000,000 in ten years on harbor improvements in the event of annexation. The latter being now an accomplished fact, Los Angeles is losing no time in keeping faith.

What remains of the crop unharvested in the table grape district of San Joaquin county is said to have been badly damaged by the late rains. As the entire output of the vineyards had been purchased some weeks ago by two or three large packing firms, the loss will not fall on the growers. But the announcement associated with the statement of damage done that the rains stopped shipments and relieved a glutted market and that increased prices are anticipated to follow this week, indicates strongly that there is a commercial side to the reported damaging effects of the rain on the unpicked bunches and that the packers will amply protect themselves against financial loss, however seriously the crop may be affected. But in all probability the reports of injury to the crop is greatly exaggerated and that when the work of grape picking is resumed it will be so demonstrated.

The new immigration station built by the government at great expense on Angel island is to be utilized at once, President Taft has so announced and he can be relied upon to make good. The station was finished over a year ago; but it has since been allowed by the immigration bureau to remain unused with the declaration that it could not be opened for business until the Panama canal is finished owing to the cost of maintenance. The absurdity of allowing such a costly establishment to decay through disuse on such a frivolous excuse appealed promptly to the quick intelligence of the President, who bluntly stated that, canal or no canal, the station should not remain idle any longer, but would be put into service without delay and that the money to operate it would be drawn from some source. So the long disgrace of the detention sheds and the scandals which have been associated with their maintenance promise soon to be brought to a final close.

CENSUS Estimates of OAKLAND'S GROWTH

A San Francisco newspaper recently fixed the present population of that city at over 500,000 and the great number of the residents there lean to the same opinion. We fear that they will be greatly disappointed at the result of the coming census enumeration.

Those who have looked into the facts, traveling over the city at the bay and visiting the surrounding counties, will consider that they are generous if they place the present population of San Francisco at 375,000. That city takes no account of the communities that have grown into importance all around the bay since the fire. It does not stop to think that there has been no such increased product of the factories as to indicate the employment of a larger number of men and women than before the fire. The wharves do not show that the shipping business has increased; nor do the stores downtown, splendid palaces of business as they are, indicate the presence of a large number of customers than traded with them before the disaster of 1906.

In the meantime Oakland has grown until one who knew the town of 1900 would scarcely recognize it today. Hills that were bare ten years ago are now the sites of handsome residences, while the districts once known as Temescal and North Oakland, over toward the Berkeley hills, have been filled with homes and people. The dividing line between Berkeley and Oakland is no longer indicated. Piedmont, Fruitvale and all the surrounding villages have secured a share of the new population, but in the main it has settled in Oakland, with the result that Oakland must have a population approximating 250,000 at a conservative estimate. It ought not to be forgotten that the people who were driven out of San Francisco and found homes elsewhere immediately after the fire, stayed generally where they settled, and while they are doing business in the city their homes remain in the other communities—a condition made possible by greatly improved transportation facilities.

Alameda, Berkeley, Richmond, Sausalito, San Rafael, Mill Valley, Ross Valley, San Mateo and down the coast line to San Jose—all these towns have doubled and tripled in population since the San Francisco disaster, and mostly as the result of former San Franciscans establishing new homes. What has the city to show for them? Have new people come to this coast to live in that city since the others left? We doubt it. These such figures as are available it is indicated that in place of the 170,000 people who left in April, 1906, and the months following, perhaps half have returned, while the new-comers will figure at 40,000 and not many more.

We indicate these figures not from any desire to disparage San Francisco, but to place that city on its guard over the disappointment and possible injury to temporary prospects that may follow the revelations of the census. It is better to claim 300,000 and find only 400,000 inhabitants than to claim 400,000 or 500,000 and be able to discover only a major fraction of that number.—Sacramento Union.

Timely Topics

Recently the Venerable Bishop Paret of the Episcopal diocese of Maryland, who is soon to have a coadjutor in the person of the Rev. Dr. John Gardner Murray, celebrated the eighty-third anniversary of his birth at his home in Baltimore. After the consecration of his coadjutor on September 20 Bishop Paret will sail for Europe to spend a year in rest and recreation. Bishop Paret was born in New York September 23, 1826. He was graduated from Hobart College in 1849. He was made a deacon in 1852, and a priest in 1853.

A somewhat tipsy individual, talkative in a good-natured way, boarded a street car near the Grand Central yesterday and promptly proceeded to direct his conversation at everybody within hearing distance. "Who's this fellow, Hudson Fulton?" he asked. "I never heard of him, and I've lived in New York for seventy years. He's a dead one, I'll bet. This New York! Always digging up some old mummy to celebrate over. Why don't they try a live one, now and then? That's what I want to know. This old city with its name on the sign's probably been buried forty years. I'm going to start a burials celebration for somebody that's been on earth since the war."

In an effort to put a stop to persistent frauds on wholesale dealers, the Credit Men's Association of Chicago has started a movement for a "bulk sales" law in Illinois. The idea is to forbid merchants to sell their stocks as a whole on less than five days' notice to all creditors. A somewhat similar statute, passed in 1905, was declared void by the Supreme Court, but the credit men believe that they can draw a new one that will stand the test of the courts.

U. S. TRADE IN TOYS

Over fifty million dollars worth of toys have been imported into the United States during the last ten years. During the same period something like five million dollars worth of toys were exported. During the last fiscal year the high water mark has been reached in so far as export trade in toys is concerned. The total value of exported toys during that time has for the first time exceeded a million dollars.

The value of toys imported has fallen somewhat since 1903, when the total value of imported toys was $7,250,000. This year the figures were $5,000,000 in round numbers.

Toy manufacturers in the United States had investments in plants and in stock of less than $1,000,000 in 1880. In 1905 such investments had grown to $4,750,000. The value of importations of toy merchandise has in the meantime shown a constantly increasing trend. Trade in toys has largely been developed during the last ten or a dozen years.

Toys are very largely "made in Germany." That is to say Germany is by far the largest source of supply in the United States. The little German town of Sonneberg, in the Duchy of Saxony, is the center of the toy industry.

Turtle Worship

At a place called Kotron on the French Ivory Coast the natives believe that to eat or destroy a turtle would mean death to the guilty one or sickness among the family. The fetich men, of whom there are plenty, declare that years ago a man went to sea fishing. In the night his canoe was thrown upon the beach empty. Three days afterward a turtle came ashore at the same place with the man on its back alive and well. Since that time they have never eaten or destroyed one of that species, although they enjoy other species.

If one happens now to be washed ashore there is a great commotion in the town. First the women sit down and start singing and beating sticks, next a small piece of white cloth (color must be white) is placed on the turtle's back. Food is then prepared and placed on the cloth, generally plantains, rice and palm oil. Then amid a lot more singing, dancing and antics of the fetich people it is carried back into the sea and goes on its way rejoicing.—London Globe.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR GLOW

The general illuminations throughout the city last night, which are to be continued during the celebration, are the greatest the world ever saw. If the electric wires bearing rows and rows of incandescent lamps used in the celebration were stretched in one continuous line they would extend for 600 miles. The electric light displays at the world's fair in Chicago and at the Jamestown exposition pale before the extent of the illuminations in New York during the present celebration. Private and municipal capital have combined to make the present show of the resources of the city in the way of electrical illumination food for talk until another and greater celebration takes place.

At the main offices of the Edison company, which had 2500 incandescent lights ordning the building, it was said that the men had been working night and day at all the stations for two weeks on the illuminations. An army of electrical workers was busy several weeks wiring the houses, hotels and thoroughfares which were illuminated. Never perhaps before in any celebration did hotels and clubs spend so much money on electric lights.

In the downtown district from Eighth street to the Battery thousands of incandescent lights were used by hotels, business houses and clubs in special illuminations. Harlem's patriotic citizens had 50,000 incandescent lamps in festoons and chains of light in honor of the occasion. Every building of note in Harlem was outlined in light. From Eighth street to Fifty-ninth street in Manhattan there were 27,536 incandescent lights used by hotels and otherwise, specially for the celebrations, independent of many others of new advertising signs, some of which were very costly and ingenious, used by firms which advertise their wares in a spectacular way. There were many thousands of incandescent lights used by residents of Brooklyn, and all the public buildings were illuminated. Borough hall was outlined as well as the big buildings opposite in lines of light.

The celebration commission for the city is using 56,803 electric incandescent lights specially during this week for illuminations, the city hall, the Blackwell's Island, Williamsburg, Manhattan and Brooklyn bridges being festooned by more than twenty thousand of them.

Independent of the expense of wiring it will cost $500 a night to keep up the lights which are installed for the celebration on the East River bridges. Including public and private illuminations, it was estimated last evening that the entire cost of wiring and lighting will reach the million dollar mark. The lighting alone, including public and private illuminations, it was estimated will probably aggregate nearly $20,000 a night.

"It is safe to say," said a representative of the company, "that the present illuminations are the most extensive that ever took place in the world. At the time of the Chicago world's fair and the Jamestown exposition electric lighting had made rapid strides, but the resources and machinery have developed rapidly since then and it is doubtful if at that time the resources of any city would have furnished such illuminations by electric power as the present. Manhattan Island is long and narrow and it takes far more lights to make an illumination

BAKING BY ELECTRICITY

Bread is baked by electricity in a bakery at Kerns, Switzerland. The oven is about eight feet long and four feet wide, with a heating surface of more than thirty square feet. It takes a batch of about 100 pounds of bread in two or three pound loaves, and consumes at most eighteen kilowatts by means of forty-two heating tubes which traverse the bottom of the oven.

The time employed for baking each batch including charging and emptying, is about an hour and a half. In twelve hours, therefore, says the Scientific American, eight batches, or 800 pounds of bread can be baked with the consumption of 180 kilowatt hours, or 1.5 kilowatt hour per pound. As the kilowatt hour here costs only 6.7 cent the baking costs only 0.14 cents per pound. The oven can also be operated continuously day and night with a further reduction of expense, as the oven would not have to be reheated after cooling. The bread thus baked is of excellent quality and uniformity, because of the distribution of the current through the oven in accordance with the unequal conditions of cooling, the current being gradually diminished from the front to the back of the oven.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR GLOW

effective than if it were more compact. It is difficult for a layman to grasp the idea of the work involved in such an illumination.

"To say that 1,500,000 incandescent bulbs are used conveys no idea of the magnitude of the affair to those who do not estimate what a million means with comparison with smaller numbers. Let us use one star to count a million and he will see what it means. Yet every one of these million and a half bulbs had to be separately wired and tested and they are in addition to thousands of designs which are to be seen on any ordinary night when there is no celebration, New York being the most lavish in the use of electric light for illuminating and advertising purposes of any city in the world. The stations were all prepared for the emergency and the whole job was accomplished without interfering with the regular order of business."—New York Sun.

POLICEMEN Are Human

A sound stand is that of Colonel Laird, the president of the board of police commissioners, who has set his foot down in defense of the theory that he will not permit one St. Louis policeman to stand on duty for too many hours without refreshment. All glory to Colonel Laird. All glory to the power of the vast police commissions. All glory to that omnipresent presence which controls all of our bluecoated coadjutors in authority.

Not fewer than a million people are going to be guests of St. Louis during the next weeks. Shall comfort come forth and shall those who have in hand the opportunity to make St. Louis guests feel as if they were at home not be credited with nice endeavor?

The Times cannot too clearly accentuate that all of the people who are coming in here are going to be treated with rightness of feeling, which is entirely different from that idea which New York has put into practice and to which the Times has alluded, and which charges a man four prices for a room over a restaurant. All of the New York hotels have gone to the summit of charge during the Fulton Week. We, being non-commercial, stand pat on the theory that everybody who comes to St. Louis is going to get the best treatment possible, and that nobody, including our hotels, will overcharge anybody at all.—St. Louis Times.

SENATOR FLINT'S PLANS

"The Knave, who writes a weekly letter for 'THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE' is responsible for a new rumor regarding Senator Flint, which is to the effect that he is considering seriously retiring from public life at the end of his present term. This report, we believe, has not been published in any paper in this part of the State. THE TRIBUNE says:

I hear that Frank P. Flint is seriously debating with himself whether he will abandon politics for a business career or go in for re-election. Flint has been a hard worker in the Senate, and has made an excellent record, but from some points of view his experience as a senator has not been satisfactory.

For instance, his expenses each year since his election have exceeded his pay as senator, and Flint is far from a rich man. His enforced absence in Washington has been disastrous to his law practice, which was large and lucrative when he entered the senate.

When he announced his candidacy he resigned as counsel for the Southern Pacific and subsidiary corporations, which meant throwing over his shoulder a handsome sum yearly. Moreover, the provisions of the new primary law compel him to face an arduous and expensive personal campaign, a prospect that is far from agreeable to him.

On the other hand, Flint has before him a flattering offer to become the managing head of one of the biggest banks in Los Angeles at a salary of $20,000 a year, which is twice as much as a senator gets. The work is not nearly so strenuous or wearing as being senator and trying to be the friend of everybody. That is why Frank Flint is gravely canvassing the future. He likes the game of politics, but he doesn't like losing money on the job of senator. And $20,000 a year for holding down a bank manager's chair looks good to him. What he will ultimately decide to do remains to be seen.

We are not disposed to consider seriously this rumor of Flint's retirement, for he seems to be shaping things with a view to a canvass of the State under the new direct primary law. One of the most popular moves he has made since he became senator was when he came out at the banquet in Los Angeles and denounced the railroads for their greed in raising the rate on lemons. He might have been just as outspoken if he had intended to retire to private life; but it looks to us as if this step was a sort of declaration of independence on Flint's part and a "notice to all concerned" that whatever influences might have been active in securing his election by the legislature, he proposes to be the people's senator and to depend on popular endorsement for his success next time.

Flint has been a hard worker and his course in the senate in general has been such as to commend him to the confidence of the voters of the State; and when he adds to this record a vigorous fight for the orange and lemon growers against the railroads, he is going to be a great vote-getter. Our prediction is that he will be a candidate for re-nomination and that he will win out—Riverdale Press.

IN SOCIETY

THE marriage of Miss Lee Breckinridge and Joseph Ingram Thomas was solemnized last evening at 6 o'clock with the simplest of ceremonies in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few of the most intimate friends. The impressive service was read by the Rev. George C. Eldridge at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. H. Henderson. The artistic decorations were of sprays of autumn foliage, combined with a profusion of gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums. There were no bridesmaids, the bride wearing a handsome traveling gown of golden, with hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and maiden hair fern.

Immediately after the marriage service a wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, leaving soon after upon their honeymoon journey. After a trip of three weeks the young couple will go to Salt Lake, where they are to make their future home. In the presence of about two hundred relatives and friends Miss Elsie Cole became the bride of Bennett R. Bates. The impressive service was read by the Rev. Charles R. Miss Claire Cole, the maid of honor, wore a pretty gown of pale green silk and carried a shower bouquet of asparagus fern. Gertrude Cole and Lester Cole, a younger sister and brother of the bride, led the bridal procession, carrying a garland of asparagus fern.

The wedding day of the young couple also marked the sixty-second wedding anniversary of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cole, who resorted her young relative to the door of the reception room. Mrs. Cole wore a rich gown of black, adorned with rare old lace and carried a bouquet of orchids.

Mr. Bates and his bride were both graduated from the University of California. They are to make their future home in Mexico, where Mr. Bates is associated with a mining company.

The club is one of the auxiliaries of the First Christian Church, whose meetings are held for sociability and charitable works. It has a membership of nearly a hundred and is divided into divisions. The meeting today included the entire club. An informal musical program rounded out by a dainty supper was the enjoyment of the afternoon.

INFORMAL THIMBLE BEE.
Miss June Schless entertained about two dozen friends this afternoon at an informal thimble bee, given at her pretty home on Hillside avenue.

One of the most interesting business meetings of the season was that held by the Oakland Club yesterday afternoon. This club, which has always stood for civic works wishes to enlarge and continue its good work. It is now endeavoring to have a better condition of streets and yesterday the president, Mrs. Leon M. Hall nominated a committee to receive suggestions from the club members as to the best work for the club to undertake.

Says Women Should Master Trades Like Men

Women plainly are taking themselves with intense seriousness these days. In a trades congress in Ipswich the other day Miss Alice MacArthur, secretary of the British Association of Women Workers, said her organization insisted upon women standing on absolutely equal footing with men in the industrial world. She asserts there could be no compromise, that it must be all or nothing and that women would force the issue irrespective of the wish or attitude of men. In the age of chivalry dead? Miss MacArthur's views are being pronounced by women in this country every day. It seems, however, the militant Miss MacArthur is ill-advised, for men may take it into their heads to rebel and be the masters and not the slaves of all womankind.

English Women In Ambulance Corps

The Ladies Mounted Ambulance Corps, that has among its members only women of birth and education, is going strong, but recruits are still wanted for it. In time of war at home or abroad the corps would be ready to offer its services for the good of the country, and meanwhile the ladies who have joined it are perfecting themselves in first aid, riding, shooting, signaling and stretcher drill. During the first six months after enlistment the corps devotes itself entirely to first aid and nursing subjects, and the attendance at lectures and classes is compulsory. Later shooting and riding are undertaken.—Gentlewoman.

'Peach Baskets' and 'Peek-a-Boos' to Invade Japan

If peach-basket bonnets, peek-a-boo waists, and other articles of entrancing lingerie are not imported into Japan immediately upon the return of the commercial commissioners now doing America it will not be because the bright-eyed little women who form a patch of color in the movements of Chicago's visitors from the Far East have not been completely won over by the glamour of State street show windows. "Women are women the world over," naively confessed demure Mrs. K. Midzuno, a diminutive member of the party which made the automobile rounds of the city today. "We see what looks nice, then we wear it. Your American women wear gorgeous costumes. Some of their dresses are like ours. Some of ours will be like yours. The dress of the Japanese woman all the time is becoming more like dress of the American woman." She looked with some show of coolness at her own dainty attire, which seemed to have faded in her eyes. Not a few of the modestly appeared American visitors at the Congress Hotel were looking with an appreciative glance at the fine silken robes so artistically girdled about the sprightly Japanese dames, but as Mrs. Midzuno had sagely observed, "Women are women the world over."

Women Love Arctic; Prefer Little Cabin In Nome or Dawson to New York Hotels

Wives of Wealthy Miners Hasten Back to Land Of Hardships

It is strange the fascination that the Northland exerts on men and women. The early boats are crowded with those who have been out for the winter and are hurrying back, called by that imperative voice of the Arctic. A smartly dressed woman, whose eyes held a new light every time Dawson was mentioned, was the wife of a man who had made his hundreds of thousands in the Klondike. They had spent the winter at the Waldorf-Astoria and yet she was glad to get home. And what was home? Only a cabin, again, a 1-room cabin on the side of the mountain, a dozen miles from Dawson. Why did she want to get back, away from friends, theaters, music, lectures, when they had ample money to live luxuriously outside? She only smiled at the question and shook her head as though she could not explain to one who did not know: "I've got to get back, that's all," she said simply. "I've given up a house with four bathrooms to come to a country that hasn't a house with a tub in it," laughed another Arctic housekeeper. "If you want to take a proper bath in even Nome or Dawson you will have to go to the bathhouse to do it. Winters are too long and too cold to bother with plumbing in the cabins." The towns are all camps, the houses all cabins in the North, but in these days of telephones and electric lights there are few hardships even on the creeks. Dawson is a Canadian camp with its cheery afternoon tea, its tennis and cricket, while Nome is distinctively American with a woman's club, the Kogoyah Kogga, which has its own clubhouse. As for dinners and luncheons, you never believe what elaborate meals the women can serve in their small kitchens and all from cans. The cabins are tiny affairs, one, two, seldom more than three rooms, but from these boxlike houses the women appear in smart afternoon gowns or filmy evening frocks. A fur parka drawn over the white satin and the felt shoes give a strangely incongruous touch, but one quite in keeping with the dog sled waiting to convey my lady to her party.

WESTERN GIRL TRAINS RIDING HORSES To Pay Expenses Through College

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5.—"Aren't we lucky? You look like a Japanese and I ride like a cowboy." A Western girl who is working her way through college exclaimed after comparing notes with another girl in a similar situation. "I pay expenses by breaking riding horses, and you wait in a Japanese tea room looking so natural in a kimono that everybody thinks you a genuine little Japanese girl." "I have been particularly excited during the last month because at least two of the horses I trained during the summer are to be in the next horse show. That is one of the excitations about breaking riding horses—they may turn out to be winners in the horse show. "A well trained riding horse sells for about $100 unless it can be brought to develop horses show form. In that case the price goes up to $1000 and over. The two horses I referred to were selected for riding animals, one for a combination horse and the other for a park hack. "The great majority of horses brought here are already broken to harness, so all I have to do in that line is to drive a horse enough to prevent it from becoming exclusively a riding horse while I am training it for the saddle. "If a horse has never been trained to the saddle and you want to get a combination animal the best plan is to get your dealer to give you a driving horse with good points and train him yourself. This is an easy enough matter if you are a good rider. It is not important that a horse which has only been broken should have an easy gallop at first. There is nothing in which a horse improves so rapidly as in galloping. All it requires is practice and a little kindly guidance. "It is important, however, that a riding horse should be of a quiet temperament and should lower its head and lean on the bit. A high headed horse is disagreeable to ride and has uncertain gait, while a fretful or nervous horse will take all the nervous energy of the rider to keep it in check. "This is a bad fault in any horse, but most horses can be broken of it if they are taught to obey without fearing the rider. Indeed such horses need to be taught to have such confidence in their rider that they fear nothing. A horse of a quiet temperament does this instinctively, but the nervous, fretful animal must have patient teaching. "I don't believe that any one who cares for horses is sorry that the ladies' saddle horse, as it was called a generation ago, has come out of style. In the first place each horse in a stable should be so well trained that it can be ridden by either men or women. In the second place horses used by both men and women are much less apt to suffer from sore backs. "Of course the use of the side saddle is not the only cause of sore back. It may be caused by neglecting to keep the lining and padding of the saddle dry. If this is not done the padding becomes hard and uneven and the only remedy is to have the saddle done over. "Oh, I ride both ways, on the side saddle and cross saddle. There is a horse under me in both positions and that is the thing that counts. When I am at home, I mean in the West, I never think of riding sideways except to keep in practice. Riding astride is not only easier for me but is also better for the horse's back. The only point is that a woman sitting in the side saddle is ever so much more feminine looking than when she rides astride. "I am not a bit sure that I couldn't ride around the globe without feeling fatigued provided I had an even tempered horse with fairly easy gait under me and I rode cross saddle. When in a side saddle I begin to feel the strain on my back before I finish twenty miles. I'm quite sure the horse feels it even earlier."

THE SOCIAL GAME

I love the billowy social sea,
Because each year it brings to me
The wherewithal to mount the tide
On which Dame Fashion's vessels ride.

I make enough the season through
To give my hand, my foot to shoe.
Along the beach where wrecks recline
I pluck the gems that on me shine.

One only has to court the show
Where wine and light so freely flow
To see the shoals on every hand
Where fortune's ships may strike and strand.

A game of bridge at midnight hour
Within my own safe harbor bower—
A smile, a glance, a woman's play,
And lo, each season wags my way!

Wife Wants Babies; Husband Don't; Wife Seeks Divorce

CHICAGO.—Ambitions to rear a family, which were not shared by her husband, August R. Zorn, 6705 Normal avenue, a professor of modern languages in Armour Institute, who preferred platonic marital relations, caused Mrs. Pay Lovelace Zorn to appear before Judge Chetlain in the Superior Court yesterday and ask for a decree of divorce.

According to Mrs. Zorn, her husband paid no attention to her expressed desire to become a mother. He said he believed in the "new thought" marriage, and declared they should improve their minds rather than perpetuate the Zorn family. "I told my mother that I wanted babies," Mrs. Zorn told the court, "and complained of my husband's apparent lack of interest. He never even comforted me with assurances that my wishes would some day be fulfilled."

"What did your mother say?" asked the court. "Well, she said she didn't understand this new thought proposition," said Mrs. Zorn. "She thought it was perfectly natural that I should desire a family, and said, in her opinion, my husband's views were the funniest thing she had ever heard of."

"How did your husband treat your suggestions that you should have a family?" asked Judge Chetlain. "He ignored them at first," said Mrs. Zorn. "When I persisted he said he didn't believe in children. He said they were unnecessary and would do us no good. He wanted me to study his beliefs which I did not understand at all. He wouldn't even give me the satisfac-

'ELOPE CLUB' GIRL WEDS ON THE SLY

ELGIN, Ill.—Confiding their intention to wed only to his mother, Edwin Perry, cashier in the office of the Western United Gas and Electric Company, and Miss Mary Lew Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Owen of 313 Summit street, left Elgin quietly this morning for Crown Point, Ind., Indiana's Gretna Green.

While Miss Owen's parents this afternoon denied knowledge of the ceremony, Mrs. E. C. Perry, 257 Chicago street, admitted over the telephone, that her son and Miss Owen left this morning with the intention of being married at Crown Point.

"Yes," said Mrs. Perry, when told of the report in circulation, "they have gone to Crown Point to be married. My health had been effected, and now the physician and his wife are living happily together again."

Dr. Heller is the son of Dr. Henry D. Heller, quarantine physician of this port. His wife was Miss Florence Kencht, daughter of Howard Kencht, of Freemansburg.

Trouble appeared a short time after their marriage, two and a half years ago, and Mrs. Heller, did not live with her husband more than six weeks. Efforts toward a reconciliation were made without result. Finally, Dr. Heller decided to sue for divorce. The suit charged desertion. The following night the doctor received a call from his wife over the telephone, and he immediately left home in his automobile. Naturally, neither Dr. Heller nor his wife has discussed low the reconciliation was effected, but since Saturday morning they have been together, and no further action has been taken in the divorce suit.

BLUFFS WIFE INTO RECONCILIATION By Starting Divorce Proceedings

NEW YORK.—Suit for divorce proved efficacious medicine in the treatment of the dissatisfaction in the family of Dr. Austin Heller, of Hellertown. Within thirty-six hours after suit was begun in Easton last Thursday, a reconciliation had been effected, and now the physician and his wife are living happily together again.

Wife's Gossiping No Cause for Desertion

TRENTON, N. J.—In an opinion filed today giving to Mrs. Laura Bradbury, divorcee, her husband, Frederick Bradbury, Vice Chancellor Walker says that abandonment of a wife cannot be justified by the allegation that she gossips with her neighbors and thus neglects her duties as the man charged in a counter-suit.

The vice chancellor ruled that even the doing of such things by a wife does not justify the husband in ceasing his relations with her and abandoning her.

The Night Piece to Julia

Her eyes the glow-worm lend thee,
The shooting stars attend thee;
And the elves also,
Whose little eyes glow
Like the sparks of fire, befriend thee.

No Will-o'-th'-Wisp mislead thee,
Nor snake or slow-worm bite thee;
But on, or thy way
Not making a stay,
Since ghost's there's none to affright thee.

Let not the dark thee cumber;
What though the moon does slumber;
The stars of the night
Will lend thee their light
Like tapers clear without number.

Then, Julia, let me woo thee,
Thus, thus to come unto me;
And when I shall meet
Thy sliver feet
My soul I'll pour into thee.

THREE SLAYERS ANSWER TO CHARGES

Captain Conboy, Wm. A. Stein and Manuel Grimaldi
Appear in Court

AT REQUEST OF COUNSEL

Former Officer Sits With
Spectators, While Others
Remain in Chain Gang

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—There were three murderers in Police Judge Conlan's court this morning. The first, and from a public standpoint, the most interesting was William A. Stein, who was taken into custody last night following the death of Bernard Lewis whom he shot while in a drunken frenzy on June 21. He was brought from the city prison by a special bailiff and allowed to sit in the front row of the spectators' chairs until his case was called, and his counsel, Attorney O'Donnell, secured a continuance until next Wednesday for arraignment. He was then returned in a similar manner to his cell.

STEIN IN CHAIN GANG.

The second man was William A. Stein, who shot and killed Edward Livermore, the young stage employee, in a quarrel over the latter's children, after the two men had fought together for some time. He was brought from the city prison in a chain gang, and forced to remain in the prisoners' dock. His case was continued until next Thursday.

THIRD MURDERER HANDCUFFED.

The last murderer was Manuel Grimaldi, who was also brought up handcuffed to the chain, and was stepped in route to be photographed and his Bertillon measurements taken by Detective Sergeant Gibson, head of the identification bureau.

He is the midst of a sizzling brawl, but Pasquale Diagonal, practically disarming him, early yesterday morning. When his case was called a continuance was had until Wednesday next.

NO FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

No arrangements had been made up to noon for the funeral of young Lagan, who had been suffering so keenly since the shooting, and whose end had been expected for some time. Although prepared for his death, his family were completely prostrated when the end came.

Captain Conboy also is grieving and is unable to rest easily in his cell. He sits terribly his position, and spends his time in walking up and down and making a vain effort to throw off the worry which besets him by reading.

INVENTOR OF FREAK HOUSE KILLS SELF

GOSHEN, Ind., Oct. 7.—James Devor, once a lieutenant in the United States army and afterward widely known as an inventor and architect of freak houses, committed suicide near his home south of Elkhart, by stepping in front of an interurban car.

Devor had been acting strangely for more than a year. When the city of Elkhart opened a road through his estate, Devor fought the workmen off and planted bombs along the right of way to prevent the grading of the road. He was confined to an asylum for a time. Devor was a lawyer and writer of some note.

Taft's Friendship for John Hays Hammond Is Shown by Long-Distance Summons for Mining Expert to Join Presidential Party

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND.

No mining expert or engineer living is better known or has attained as great fame in his profession as John Hays Hammond, who was one of the most notable and distinguished members in President Taft's party during its visit to the bay cities this week. Mr. Hammond joined the Presidential party at Butte, Montana, in response to a special invitation from the President, sent to him while he was making a business tour through Mexico, New Mexico and Arizona which has taken up his professional attention during the past six months.

Between Hammond and the President a warm personal friendship exists born on the golf links, for which beautiful outdoor sport they have a mutual fondness. And while Hammond had not previously taken any conspicuous interest in politics previous to the last Presidential campaign, his name was for a time prominently mentioned as a possible nominee for the vice presidency. He early withdrew his name because of the demands of his vast business interests on his time and energies. He gave his unqualified support, however, to Taft before and after the nomination.

OFFERED MEMBERSHIP. As one of the results of this warm friendship between him and the President and his loyalty to the latter, in May last Hammond was offered the diplomatic post of minister to China. But Hammond had not fully recovered at the time from an operation performed for appendicitis some months previous. But the declaration was made in a manner truly characteristic of the great mining engineer, by saying: "If the situation in China or elsewhere is such as to require me to risk my life, then my life is my country's. It is for you to save."

CALL FLIPINO MONGOLIAN; CAN'T WED

Application for Marriage Permit Turned Down by License Clerk

PRETTY WHITE GIRL
WOULD BE WIFE

Is Not of Mongolian But of Malay Ancestry--Suit is Threatened

Ruling off-hand that Filipinos are Mongolians and therefore prohibited from marrying whites under the laws of the State, Chief Deputy County Clerk Johnstone last evening refused to issue a marriage license to Eugenio Tabenas, a native of Manila, and Mary Leble, a prepossessing housemaid, who claims France as the country of her nativity. The couple came over from San Francisco and were indignant because they could not get the permit.

What Tabenas presented most was his being classified as a Mongolian and he threatened to carry his case into court. This set Chief Deputy Johnstone to thinking and he went across the street to the District Attorney's office to get a decision as to the hearing of the marriage laws upon Filipinos. Assistant District Attorney Hynock and Chief Deputy District Attorney Carey could find no authority in the office nor in the law library, aside from a dictionary, that would give them any information on the subject. The dictionary, however, said that while the racial affiliations of the Filipinos were in doubt, they were generally accepted as belonging to the Mongolian race. Then they made Chief Deputy Johnstone feel better by telling him that he did the right thing by refusing the license.

NOT A MONGOLIAN.

But it has developed today that the classification accepted by the District Attorney's office is all wrong. Aside from the hearing of the marriage laws of the State on such cases, the fact remains that the Filipino is no more a Mongolian than is the Chinese or the East Indian. He is of Malay origin and being such cannot be classified as either negro or Mongolian. All Spanish histories of the Philippines, every document of the Catholic church on the subject, and every report of the United States Government bearing on the matter agree on this point. The Supreme Court of the United States has also ruled that Filipinos may become naturalized citizens of the country and this decision could not have been handed down had they been Mongolians.

Ethnological research under the direction of the Bureau of Science at Manila has long ago settled the origin of the Filipino as Malaysian, so with all this authority starting the District Attorney's office in the face it seems to those who are familiar with the subject that its action in the case of Tabenas was hasty, to say the least. It is argued that a Filipino cannot be set down as a negro or a Mongolian under the marriage laws of the State, which his Malay blood would classify as a white, although brown, under the same law, and be conceded the right to contract marriage with a white woman. The wisdom of such an alliance does not enter into the matter.

FORMERLY ASSORGINES.

From the best information to hand the Philippines were originally settled by aborigines, known to present-day ethnologists as Negritos. There is still a remnant of this tribe residing in the province of Ambos Camarines. In the southern part of the island, the natives are of half-breed and possess all the physical characteristics of the African negro. Their origin is not known, but the best theory is that they emigrated from Australasia and are an offshoot of the wild bushman of the Australian jungles.

Experts of the Malay pirates invaded the Philippines many years before the Spaniards conquered the power of the Negritos. These Malays were the nucleus of the present Filipino people. They came from the Malay Peninsula and multiplied with great rapidity. When the Spaniards took possession of the islands, about the time of the discovery of America, the natives were confronted by a more powerful race, the Spaniards, who fought them for years and when the future generations of Filipinos came they continued the warfare of their fathers right through the centuries and up to the time that the United States gained the island from the Spaniards. It is true that at various times during the domination of the Spaniards they were temporarily arrested in their control of the islands by other powers, but never long enough to drive out of the minds of the Filipinos the memories of their ancestors by the bloody hand.

ARE GREAT FIGHTERS.

Chinese invaded the islands once, but were finally driven out by the Spaniards. England broke Spain's power afterward and set up a government at Manila, but afterward withdrew in favor of Spain by a treaty between the two countries. During the centuries of Spanish domination Chinese, Japanese and other foreigners flooded into the country and as a result of this immigration there sprung up in the islands what is today known as the mestizo class—that is, long lines of half-breeds. These, however, do not overthrow the Malay origin of the Filipino, now so well authenticated by historians, the Catholic church and ethnologists and officially recognized by the United States government.

HOW THE PRESIDENT LIVES ON BOARD SPECIAL TRAIN

Taft Is Plentifully Supplied With the Finest Products of the Country and Gives Them Away

Gerrit Post, assistant to the vice president in charge of the traffic department of the New York Central lines, who is in charge of the personal direction of the Presidential train, gives an interesting account of the way the President travels in an interview with a TRIBUNE reporter Mr. Post said:

"This trip has convinced me that it ought to be a part of the duty of every President to make a similar journey. The President has made the personal acquaintance of hundreds of thousands of people and has himself enjoyed the already broad knowledge of the country. There are no frills or furbelows about his train equipment, which consists of the Pullman private car, Mayflower, in which the President, his military aide and one or two members of his cabinet or other prominent men are traveling as his guests and the Pullman car, Rosemere, in which the newspaper correspondents, the President's physician, Dr. Richardson, and the other members of the party are traveling. The only other car is a New York Central baggage car."

PAYS REGULAR RATE
"The government is paying the regular tariff rate for these cars and the President's secretary, Mr. Carpenter, has been most insistent that no special privileges should be extended by the railroads which would not be given to any private citizen. As a matter of convenience to themselves most of the roads have handled these three cars as a section of their regular trains, running on the same schedule."

The baggage car has been loaded down from the time we reached the western slope of the State of Colorado to the present time with gifts of fruit, game, fish and other delicacies more than the President could eat in the next five years and enough to stock a high class grocery and market for at least a month."

By the President's direction many of these delicacies have been distributed at hospitals at the various points at which the train stopped."

GRAND JURY IN SURPRISE VISIT

Swoops Down Upon County Infirmary After Much Secrecy

With a suddenness that took the management by complete surprise the Grand Jury this morning swooped down upon the County Infirmary. The intention of the jurors to visit the institution was kept so secret that the automobile engaged for the trip was brought to the court house from Berkeley and the chauffeurs were not directed where to go until the morning was well along on the journey. When the jury reached the infirmary to make a personal investigation of conditions there and the manner in which it is being conducted it found the institution in just the shape that it is normally.

Most of the day was spent there during which a searching inquiry was made into all phases of the administration with a view to a general betterment of conditions, a more economical management and the inauguration of other reforms which will make for reducing the burden that the infirmary imposes upon the taxpayers. Superintendent W. A. Clark and his assistants were closely questioned and called upon to explain the system which prevails there.

IS TOO EXPENSIVE

The allegation has been made that the infirmary is costing the county too much money. Figures submitted to the Grand Jury show that it is costing the taxpayers on an average of $12,000 a year to provide for an average of 40 inmates. This is not all, it is altogether too much money being about $350 a year per capita or 18c to 25c cents a day for each patient. This requires these figures to be correct, exact and likely that about 77 out of a hundred inmates is nearer the cost of a day per capita is about what the jury thinks the institution should cost the taxpayers and it is this view that it will recommend the people to be met.

Most of the day was spent there during which a searching inquiry was made into all phases of the administration with a view to a general betterment of conditions, a more economical management and the inauguration of other reforms which will make for reducing the burden that the infirmary imposes upon the taxpayers. Superintendent W. A. Clark and his assistants were closely questioned and called upon to explain the system which prevails there.

KETCHEL IS CONFIDENT HE WILL BEAT JOHNSON

MILLET'S TRAINING CAMP HAS BEEN HOME OF WINNERS

Middleweight Believes He Will Not Break String of Winners That Have Trained at Famous Camp—Johnson Will Be in Great Shape

By EDDIE SMITH.

STANLEY KETCHEL will take a few days off. The daily grind of a fighter in training becomes so monotonous that a day's respite is like a midweek holiday. Ketchel, who has won the world's championship, is in the best of condition. He is bigger, faster and, surprisingly as it may seem, more confident than ever that he will win the contest. To listen to the middleweight talk, one would think he is all under the wire. He has it all figured out. He will look flat-footed out on the canvas, but he will win the fight. He will be the heavy weight champion of the world.

Tigers Are in Pittsburg and Spend Time in Secret Practice

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—With the world's championship baseball game on tomorrow, Pittsburg has practically abandoned business and turned its attention to baseball. The Detroit American League champions arrived this morning and had secret practice on Forbes field. The Pittsburg team already has put in hours of secret work, and will rest until the opening clash tomorrow afternoon.

Forbes field has been enlarged, and this in a great measure will eradicate ground rules during the game. Seats are selling at a high premium.

The entire Pittsburg team is in the best possible condition with the exception of Howard Cannon, the star pitcher.

DOCTORS, NOT CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS, HAD CASE
EDITOR TRIBUNE: With reference to the article headed "Christian Scientists, Doctors," which appeared in your paper recently, I would state that Christian Scientists have no power to cure physical ailments, but they respect the rights of a body of earnest workers for the relief of suffering humanity. Mrs. Eddy has written (Scientist) that "the power of the mind is the power of God." It is just to say that generally the cultured class of medical practitioners are the best men and women.
In the case of Willie Edwards, who died last Saturday, the facts are that about a week before this, when he was taken ill he had the attendance of two physicians and an operation was performed the following day. Several days later, when he was again taken ill, he was not rallying from the operation, a friend urged that Christian Science be tried, word was sent to a practitioner and several hours later he died. The case was under the care of the physicians from before the operation until the time of the operation.
Until a system is found which absolutely no case is ever lost, it would be better to let the medical profession be free to choose the method of cure, and the best hope of recovery, and in the case in question it is evident that the medical profession was the best. It is in the fact that this man sought aid from the physicians and later from Christian Science.

Edna Aug in 'Types' Will Be Feature of New Orpheum Bill

MISS EDNA AUG at Oakland Orpheum Next Sunday.

Something unusual occurred at the Orpheum last night when the biggest round of applause of the evening was given to a feature that was not down on the bill. The audience was treated during the intermission to the first glimpse of the new, handsome, cup-curtain which has been installed in the theater, replacing the advertising curtain that was ordered removed by President Meyerfield of the Orpheum Company some time ago.

When the new curtain was seen last night in all its beauty the audience involuntarily burst into applause. The contracts with advertisers who were represented on the Orpheum Circuit expired on October 1st, and immediately the advertising curtain was removed and men were put at work installing the new drop-curtain, which had been painted in Chicago by one of the biggest scene painting establishments in the country.

The Orpheum Company announces that there will never again be an advertising curtain in the Oakland house. The firms represented on the circuit have for the most part inserted their advertisements in the Orpheum program, which has been enlarged by the theater and made into a vaudeville magazine, containing a number of departments dealing with the stage, the Orpheum Company, the Orpheum artists and the vaudeville world in general.

SPANISH DANCER. Rosario Guerrero, the Spanish dancer and pantomime artist, is creating a veritable sensation at the Orpheum these days. In Europe the name of Rosario Guerrero is said to be almost as household word, her fame being of the sort which is achieved only by professional celebrities. She was imported by the Orpheum Company for a tour of its theaters, presenting her musical pantomime, "The Rose and the Dagger," a classic with which her name has been identified for several years. Oakland audiences are now seeing the pantomime and Miss Rosario for the first time.

Tom Waters was a name comparative by new to theater-goers until last Sunday. On that day Waters scored an immense hit with a quaint pianologue, which was found to be packed full of comedy. Waters is perhaps entitled to the palm for laughing honors at the Orpheum. He was formerly a star in "Coming Thru the Rye" and "The Mayor of Laughlin." He leaves for England to appear in the London music halls as soon as his tour of the Orpheum Circuit is finished.

IRISH SPECIALTY.

Murray and Mack, always great favorites, with lots of good farce-comedy, are giving their laughable Irish specialty at the Orpheum.

Two European acrobats, Spaulding and Hiege, have a unique bar act which provokes laughter as well as applause for the skill and daring of the performers.

"Circumstantial Evidence," the great play by Harrison Armstrong, is in its second week. It is a remarkable dramatic ending, one of the most pretentious ever brought to the coast by the Orpheum people.

Charles Montrell, the European juggler, with his quaint negro assistant, Wynne and Lee, with their skit, "The Billion Freshman," Rosa Crouch and George Welch, lively dancing and singing artists, with some new colored motion pictures, the first of the kind ever exhibited here, rounded out the show.

Edna Aug, the famous comedienne, with a new act which she calls "Types," will be one of the principal features of the new bill next Sunday.

ACTOR FEELS ON ROSE LUNCHEON

Thespian Finds Climate of City Not Congenial to Romance

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Thou shalt not, if an actor, indite ditties to a typist—that is, some typists. That was what Guglielmo Panama, an Oakland actor, did, with the result that he was required to make a hasty lunch on a red, red rose, symbol of his ardent intentions toward his innamorata, and was then impelled to walk to the Central prison and forced to register as a guest of the city, charged with disturbing the peace.

When in the glare of the spotlight the ardent wooer is known as William Raymond. He is not a matinee idol, but on the contrary, the adoration load was carried by himself alone, and he was in quest of Miss May Bell, stenographer for the Pacific Humane Society. Miss Bell was too busy to play in any such romance of real life, but the actor man persisted and wrote effusions baring his throbbing heart and pulsing brain thoughts to the heroine. One of his ditties read like this:

"Oh, that white feather in your hat is so dear. Any time I see it I feel it thrust in my heart. I can't live without seeing you four times a day—at 9, 1:15, 1:45 and 5:25. If I miss one sight, O dear, I can't bear it. Your figures dominate in my mind. I love you. This is all."

But it wasn't for William. There was a whole lot more coming to him and he got it.

The young lady reported the nuisance of having a dramatic love maker camped on her trail to her superiors. The actor man was lured by the villains to a tryet. He was there with the red, red rose blooming in his buttonhole, a symbol to distinguish him.

A. J. Knopf of the humane society, cast for the heavy role, made his entrance.

Snatching the love flower from the hero's coat lapel he crowded it into his mouth. Part of the stem went with it, and a passionate thorn, also. Then the villain marched the actor man to the bastille and charged him with petty crime.

RECALL OF CRANE IS CAUSING SPECULATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Although reticence is the order of the day at the State Department, there is every reason to believe that the summoning of Minister Charles R. Crane back to Washington on the eve of his intended sailing for his post in China has to do only with matters of importance affecting affairs in the Chinese empire.

The stories printed in some quarters to the effect that matters personal to Crane inspired the Washington authorities to delay his sailing, and hinting that he might not go to China at all as the American diplomatic representative, find no basis in anything intimated at the State Department. In fact, such hints are thrown out ten times more than ever to the conclusion that there are developments which Secretary Knox, who is ambitious to achieve a reputation for increasing American prestige in the Orient and especially to China, thinks it necessary to discuss intimately with the new minister before he assumes his duties.

IT'S A TOP NOTCH DOER.

Great deeds compel regard. The world crowns its doers. That's why the American people have crowned Dr. King's New Discovery the King of Throat and Lung Remedies. Every atom is a health force. It kills germs and colds and grippe viruses. It cures cough-crazed membranes and coughing stops. Sore, inflamed bronchial tubes and lungs are cured and hemorrhages cease. Dr. Geo. More, Black Jack, N. C., writes, "It cured me of lung trouble, pronounced hopeless by all doctors." 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Osgood Brothers.

SISKIYOU TO VOTE ON LIQUOR PROBLEM

YREKA, Oct. 7.—The Board of Supervisors has granted the request of the Anti-Saloon League and called a special election for Tuesday, November 30, to vote on several phases of the saloon question. The Anti-Saloon League is to pay all the expenses of the election. A similar request made last summer by the league was rejected by the Supervisors. Three distinct questions are to be submitted at the polls—shall there be saloons or no saloons; shall there be precinct option or county option; shall there be strict regulation of saloons or not? The Supervisors are supposed to abide by the referendum vote of the people and shape county ordinances to fit.
